INTRODUCTION

The Act setting up the Registry of Deeds in Ireland included provision for the registering of all Wills and devises in writing where "the devisor or testatrix shall die after the said 25th March 1708". These wills have now a special importance because they replace some of those destroyed in the Record Office in 1922 when virtually all the original Irish Prerogative and Consistorial Wills perished.¹

As explained more fully in the introduction to Vol 1, Abstracts of Wills at the Registry of Deeds 1708-45, wills were recorded at the Registry in one of three ways which, for the sake of brevity, we have termed "Full", "Narrate" and "Precis". A will described as "Full" in the following abstracts is one which was registered in the testator's own words; a "Narrate" is a will recorded in the third person singular, while a "Precis" is a brief statement showing to whom a testator assigned his real estate. Transcripts of the memorials are bound into large books and may be inspected at the Registry. The original memorials, signed and sealed by the person registering the will or deed, are stored in a fireproof vault. These documents should always be examined if there is any doubt as to the accuracy of the copies in the books of transcripts.

Method Adopted in Making Abstracts

The abstracts were made from the transcripts of the wills, many doubtful points having been checked with the original ¹Before 1857, wills were proved in the Consistorial Court, that is the Court of the Bishop or Ordinary within whose diocese or jurisdiction the testator dwelt; but if there were effects to the value of £5 in two or more dioceses the will had to be proved in the Prerogative Court of the Archbishop of Armagh, Primate of All Ireland, which was the Supreme Court in matters of which the ecclesiastical jurisdiction had cognisance. The jurisdiction of the Ecclesiastical Courts was abolished and transferred to the Probate Court by the Court of Probate Act, 1857 (20 and 21 Vict., c. 79).

memorials. The abstracts are numbered in chronological order of registration. Following the name and address of the testator is his occupation, if mentioned in the will. After the date of signing the will comes a description of how it is recorded at the Registry of Deeds, (that is whether in "full", "narrate" or "precis" form), the length of the transcript of the memorial and the date of registration. For this Volume III permission was kindly given to include additional particulars of lands. Details of lands devised and to whom bequeathed, not noted in Vols. I and II which were merely genealogical, now make for more informative abstracts. The names of witnesses to the Will are followed by the names of those who witness the registration of the memorial. Registry of Deeds references to book, page and number of memorial are given for each.

Indexing of Personal and Placenames in the Abstracts

In the index of personal names surnames have been given to persons such as sons and daughters mentioned by testators by their christian names only. The fact, therefore, that a surname appears in the Index of Persons does not imply it should be read into the Abstract. Married daughters are indexed under both their maiden and married surnames whether the maiden surname appears in the will or not.

More difficult still, was the indexing of place names. All too often a testator lists place names without any indication of county or barony. Where it has been possible to ascertain the precise location of any particular place the county has been inserted within square brackets in the abstracts. Place names have been copied as they were found in the transcripts of the wills; when, as sometimes occurs, a place name is spelled in various ways in the same transcript, the alternative is inserted in round brackets after the form which is first found. Place names which seemed particularly unusual in sound or spelling are followed by corrections — as suggestions — within square brackets.

It should be mentioned that wills were not always recorded immediately after the death of the testator. For instance, Pierce Crosbie's will, dated 10 September 1757, was registered fifty years later by his great-grandson, on 12 November 1807.

In conclusion, we must stress the importance, from the genealogical and social point of view, of the vast mass of material other than wills at the Registry of Deeds.

Permission to make these abstracts was granted originally by the former Registrar of Deeds, Mr. J. M. O'Byrne. We return thanks to Mr. P. S. O'Murchadha, Deputy Registrar, for his co-operation, to Mr. W. Darcy for his interest and to the staff of the Registry of Deeds for their willing help at all times.

206 RODEN, ROBERT, EARL OF

17 July 1781, and codicils. Full 7 pp. 11 May 1798.

By my marriage settlement of 7 Dec. 1752 certain sums were laid out for the purchase of lands in Ireland to be conveyed to trustees and charged with the sums of £8,000 for the younger children. I now direct that all lands held by me including those lately devised to me by Sir Conyers Jocelyn, Baronet, except my house in York Street, city of Dublin, be charged with sum of £12,000 to be raised by mortgage. To my eldest son Robert Jocelyn commonly called Lord Jocelyn, all my lands in the kingdom of Great Britain subject to an annuity to my wife, and all my property in Ireland to James Earl of Clanbrassil and Doctor Isaac Mann, Bishop of Cork, in trust for the purposes therein named. Should my said eldest son die without heirs then to my second son George Jocelyn and his assigns for life and in default to my third son Percy, my fourth son John, and then to my daughters and their heirs. Any son of my daughter if he should inherit to take the name of Jocelyn within six months.

An annuity to my wife in addition to her jointure payable out of the lands in Ireland and a further annuity out of my lands in Great Britain, and to enjoy my house in Brockley Park, Queen's Co., or my house in York Street for one year after my decease. My said son Robert shall have it in his power to sell the house in York Street towards disencumbering his other estates.

Whereas I am entitled under the will of the late Lady Caroline Hamilton in right of my wife to £4,000 to be paid on the death of the present Dowager Countess of Clanbrassil, which sum I assign to my trustees to be added to the above mentioned sums making £24,000 in all to be divided as follows: £2,000 each to my sons George Jocelyn, Percy Jocelyn, [John] Jocelyn, and my daughter

Harriet who has lately married; £3,000 to be 'applied in the manner specified in the Settlement made and executed previous to his marriage to my dear [daughter] Caroline'; £3,000 each to my daughters Sophia, Louisa and Emelia on their marriage or reaching the age of twenty-one, all subjects to the usual conditions of inheritance. Exors and guardians to my younger children my said dear wife and my son Robert Jocelyn to whom I devise the residue.

Witnesses: Mr Mercer, George Waller, Richard Waller.

Codicil, 5 July 1788. The sum of £3,000 to be paid under my daughter Harriet's marriage settlement I have since discharged, and I have also secured the sum of £2,000 on the marriage of my son George, which sums shall be deemed to be their inheritance.

My eleven canal debentures from the Grand Canal Company to my two youngest daughters and Emily Jocelyn.

Witnesses: George Waller, John Healy (deceased by 2 April 1793), William Bower.

232 MARTIN, JOHN, Sligo, Co. Sligo, Esq.
19 Oct. 1796. Full 4 pp. 10 Jan. 1800.

To my wife Elizth. Martin an annuity out of my estate of Cleveragh and Knockbawn, my post chaise and pair of carriage horses, my harpsichord and as many of my milch cows as she may think fit.

My sole exor. and trustee my eldest son Abraham Martin, Esq. My plot in Stephen Street [? Sligo] now occupied by John Griffith and Doctor Fisher; that part of Ballymear called Bath Lodge which I hold under Mr Wynne; the park or field at Knappagh [? Co. Sligo] which I hold under the late Count Francis Burton now occupied by John Ellis, in trust for use of my wife for life and then to my third son Henry Fredk. Martin on attaining the age of 21. I direct my exor. within three years after my death to erect two dwelling houses in Stephen Street as my wife shall direct at no more than £600 and to furnish them, she in the meantime to live in my present house, all in lieu of dower.

To my second son Chas. Martin and his heirs those concerns in Bridge Street and Park in Magheraboy [? Co. Sligo] held by me under lease from Benjm. Burton, city of Dublin, alderman, to my grandfather Chas. Martin; houses and offices called the Slaughter house held by me under lease from the late Geo. Knox for lives renewable for ever; that part of the Quay upon which the salt works are erected which I hold under Owen Wynne, Esq., with the stock of salt, rock salt, salt pans and other appurtenances; my one third of the concerns of the late Henry King devised to me by my uncle the late Chas. Martin, together with all other interests I have in the lands of Castletown, held under Mr Lill, plots in Church Lane and at the Quay; a field of bog at Clonebiken, held under Mr Wynne; the lands of Gortnagarvagh; a plot in High Street and park in Knocknegany [? Knocknaganny, Co. Sligo]; a house in Market Street and two fields in Abbey Quarter, all held under the Burton family; tenements in John's Lane, otherwise called Church Lane, two fields in Knappagh and the Cadger's field at the Quay held under Lord Palmerstown, and my lease of Lesnabrack, Co. Leitrim held under Lord Leitrim.

To my third son Henry Fredk. Martin the farm called Curns held under Owen Ormsby, Esq; the lands of Billa [Co. Sligo] held under Sir Edward Crofton, Bart.; the Oyster Island [Co. Sligo] and a park in Abbey Quarter near the Mass House, held under Mr Burton, and after the decease of my said wife my farm of Bath Lodge, plots in Stephen Street and the field in Knappagh in the possession of John Ellis. Should my said son Henry Fredk. die then to my said son Charles, who if he makes any claim to the estate of my late brother Fredk. Martin which turned out to be trivial, he shall not benefit under my will.

To my daughters Judith, Margaret, Catherine and Eleanor Martin and any other child to be born £1000 apiece. My eldest daughter Elizabeth Jackson. Mrs Ann Ellis, widow of my late brother Fredk. Martin. My relation Jeremiah Jones to whom I have given a lease of a field at Knappagh for life.

To Thomas Martin of Strokestown, Co. Roscommon all my concerns at or near Strokestown, and a bequest of £900, any debts owing to me at my death to be subtracted therefrom. £20 to be distributed among the poor and £40 spent on erecting a tomb.

To my eldest son Abraham Martin all my estate real, freehold and personal with the stock of my tanyard, and my leases of the mills and fishery of Sligo and my dwelling house, but subject to the said several annuities.

Witnesses: John Ellis and Danl. Lanauze, both of Sligo, merchants, and Thomas Griffith, city of Dublin, gent.

Codicil, 25 June 1799. Whereas I intend to purchase the lands held under the Burton family devised to my said son Charles, I desire the same shall be for the use of said Charles and this also applies to the lands of Oyster Island and the plot in Stephen Street devised to my son Henry, and as the expense of living and the prices of the necessary of life are much increased, I increase the annuity payable to my wife and I direct my money invested in the English Funds be used to pay the fortunes of my daughters. The house and concerns devised to Thomas Martin of Strokes-town to be for his life only and then to my said son Abraham, who is to pay the widow and children of said Thomas £300.

Witnesses: John Leech, French Street, city of Dublin, Esq., James Wood, Sligo, Esq., and Thos. Griffith, city of Dublin, attorney.

10 Sept. 1757. Full 1½ p. 12 Nov. 1807.

By articles made on marriage of my son Francis and Anne Bateman all my real estate and leasehold interests settled on said son Francis for life, and to his sons in tail male.

Whereas Maurice Fitzgerald Knight of Kerry has mortgaged part of his real estate in Co. Kerry for sums of £1,300 and I have mortgaged to the amount of £1,641 on my son-in-law James Crosbie's real estate but have settled £1,200 on my daughter Mary as her marriage portion whereof £441 remains due to me as well as the principal sum of £250 I advanced in 1746 as part of the fine paid to the College for the renewal of several leases, Carrigafoyle, which sum is charged on said leases and which Lancelot Sands and George Rose have by their bonds of £2,000 executed to me and Sir Maurice Crosbie agreed to pay the interest thereof. I now charge all my real estate and leasehold lands in said Francis' marriage articles with £300, and with the Knight of Kerry's mortgage of £700 to be my daughter Elizabeth's marriage portion, but should she die the said £1000 to be divided among the children of said Francis and Mary.

Whereas my brother John Crosbie had a mortgage on my estate of £1,080 out of which by his order I have paid £400 on his daughter Anne's marriage with Chrispr. Hilliard, and of which £680 remains unpaid as well as £1,000 he claims from me on foot of a bond paid to the late George Gunn, I direct that the mortgage of £600 from the Knight of Kerry be used to discharge this debt, and the remainder out of my personal estate.

My leasehold lands of Gortnaskeha and Poulmalully [Co. Kerry] to my wife for life, and then to my son-in-law James Crosbie. My real estate to my son Francis and his heirs. The lease of

To be interred at Maylough [Moyleagh, Co. Meath] without parade or ostentation, my coffin to be of plain deal wood painted black and carried on mens' shoulders. My exors. to buy 325 yards of linen not under tenpence or over twelve pence per yard, and give to each of the poorest men in the parishes of Oldcastle, Lough crew and Munterconnaught and Killeagh, 3½ yards thereof as a 'scarfe' to be worn at my funeral to walk in pairs after my corpse. No person possessed of a cow shall have any part of the linen, and only three priests shall attend they being my brother, my nephew John Reilly and Father . . . (blank) besides my parish priest of course, to whom one guinea shall be given. I request that there shall be no month's mind knowing that my friends will offer their prayers.

To my nephew John Barry of the Bank of Ireland, city of Dublin, and to Patrick Barry, Billick, Co. Meath, and to their heirs, all my lands of Clonliffy, Co. Cavan, held in fee simple, the town and lands of Springstown, and the lands of Cartronbore held under lease from James Howison deceased, the town and lands of Ballywillin, the lands of Killeen [Co. Longford] and all my other lands, in trust to the use of my eldest son John Brady and his assigns for life and then to his eldest and every other son in tail male, and in default to my second son James Brady under like conditions, and in default to my third son Edward Brady and his heirs, in default to my eldest daughter Anne Brady and her heirs male, in default to my second daughter Honora Brady, in default to my third daughter Elizabeth Brady, in default to my fourth daughter Emilia Brady, all in tail male, and to my fifth daughter Louisa Brady, and in default to the daughters of my sons John Brady, James Brady and Edward Brady, and in default to the daughters of my five daughters all in tail male, and in default to my own right heirs.

To said trustees my lands in Co. Meath and the lands of Lurgananure, Co. Cavan, to the use of my second son James Brady and his heirs male, in default to my third son Edward Brady and his heirs male, and in default to my said son John Brady and his heirs. In case all my sons should die without issue male then to my daughters as already declared. All to have power to make leases of before mentioned lands for a life or twentyone years and provide a jointure for future wives and provide for younger children. Female heirs to adopt the surname and arms of Brady and in default to forfeit all benefits.

The sum of £1,000 to each of my five daughters at 21 or on marriage, and the interest to be applied to their education, outside the control of their husbands.

My plate and house linen to be divided among my said three sons. My gold watch to my son Edward and her mother's watch to Mary Anne. The residue to my said son John Brady. Exors. and guardians of my younger children my said trustees and my son John Brady.

Witnesses: Thomas Nugent, George Leonard, and Michael McGurk, M.D.

Codicil 21 Oct. 1820. My daughter Honoria Brady has lately married James Vaughan, Mary's Abbey, city of Dublin, merchant, whose marriage portion is £2,000 which is in full satisfaction of the bequest of £1,000. An annuity of £50 each to my sons James and Edward Barry.

Same witnesses as above.

Codicil 28 Oct. 1822. My daughter Mary Anne Brady has lately married Anthony Sheeran, Legga, Co. Meath, to whom I have given a dowry of £1,000 which is in full satisfaction of the bequest of £1,000. I withdraw the annuity to my said sons. Whereas I had bequeathed all my property in and around Oldcastle to my said son James who has gone to India and will probably never return, said property now to devolve on my son Edward Brady. But if James returns it shall be handed up to him.

My little friend Joseph Reilly to whom I give my shop furniture and large stock of medicine as it was my intention to take him into partnership and make him my successor. It might be prudent for him to employ a qualified person to conduct the business until he is out of his time but not to give the management of any shop to his father who has been unfortunate through life. To my friend William Gaven, Esq., Milford Lodge, Lymington, Hants. the town and lands of Maylough of 64 acres held by lease from himself as a token of the obligations I am under to him.
